Financial Accountability & Public Disclosure Statement

Purpose

Potter's House is committed to responsible stewardship of donations and resources entrusted to the church for worship, ministry and charitable service. Financial disclosures should be accurate, understandable, approved by the responsible leadership and consistent with the church's books and records.

Public information

The church makes publicly available CRA registration information and directs visitors to the official CRA List of Charities for its filed T3010 returns. The public record includes disclosed revenue, expenditure and other return information for available reporting periods. Schedule 3 is a compensation-related schedule, not the entire financial return.

Governance and stewardship commitments

1. Donations are received through church-approved financial channels and recorded by the church finance team.
2. Funds allocated to named ministry programs or building needs are tracked in the finance ledger under approved designations.
3. Payment channels, recipient names, access permissions and reconciliation procedures are verified by the treasurer.
4. Reports and fundraising figures must be reconciled with finance records before publication.
5. The website will not display invented donation totals, audited-financial-statement claims, financial ratios or grant outcomes.
6. Donor information, pastoral information, welfare recipient details and health data are not published in individual-level reporting.

Annual disclosures and published reports

The finance team will review the most recent available public CRA filing and provide approved explanatory notes when needed. Approved annual impact reports will distinguish verified delivered services, planned activities, and outcomes supported by evidence. Where audits or independently reviewed statements exist, the publication will specify their actual status.

Requests and corrections

Requests for financial accountability information are handled by the church administration/finance team. Reported errors should be corrected transparently with the date of revision and an explanation of material changes.

Ongoing review

Financial disclosures and statements should be reviewed for accuracy by the church finance team and corrected when new information becomes available. The CRA information link is a source of public data, not an endorsement of any fundraising campaign.
