Program chapters

For each program: objective; activities; participation; outputs; supported outcomes; beneficiary stories only with consent; partners; resource use; limits; next steps.

Financial accountability

Link the most recent public CRA returns and explain the accounting period. Reconcile reported donation income and spending against the approved ledger. An independent audit or review must only be identified where completed and evidenced. Do not report grant commitments as cash received.

Building Project

Publish the approved goal, progress as of a stated date, paid expenses, material milestones, and a clear distinction between architectural concepts and finalized plans.

Governance and protection

Summarize approved leadership policies, safeguarding arrangements and privacy protections without disclosing confidential incidents, personnel records or children's information.

Looking ahead

List approved activities and realistic resource needs, separate from aspirations or proposed future services.
